

AMBASSADOR PATRICIA BUTENIS WILL MEET WITH VICTIMS OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE THIS WEEK

DHAKA, JUNE 11 -- To underscore the deep interest of the United States in the upcoming national election, and the importance of promoting a political process free of violence and intimidation, Ambassador Patricia Butenis this week will meet with the victims of political violence from across the political spectrum. In any country, it is essential that the perpetrators of political violence are brought to justice in a prompt, transparent, and neutral manner both to enhance the credibility of the political process and to bring relief to the victims' friends and families.

=====